```
contract Victim {
                             contract Attacker
contract Attacker {
  Victim v;
                               Victim v;
                                                             function withdraw(uint a) {
                               function Attacker() { 1 msq.sender.call.value(a);
  function exploit() {
                                  v = Victim(0x123);
                                                              p bal[msq.sender] -= a;
    v = Victim(0x123);
                                  v.withdraw(10);
    v.??;
  function () payable { function () payable {
    v.??;
                                  v.withdraw(10);
   (1) attack template
                                                              (3) victim program
                                   (2) attack program
       Attacker
                          Victim
                                                          Victim
                                          Attacker
                                                                           State
                                                                         B_v + B_a = C
                    call callback
                                                     call ♥store
          Observation:
                                                    Query:
                                            \exists i, j, k, call, call', store. \ i < j < k \land call_{loc} = i
       call+call*...store
                                           \wedge call'_{loc} = j \wedge store_{loc} = k \wedge call.gas > 2300
```